

The Beginning of "All That Culture Music of The America", was seeded when Shawn Michael Perry presented his vision to Samick Music Corporation. Shawn's vision of inspiring and educating rural children through music was embraced by Samick Music Corporation and together they teamed up and provided musical instruments to schools in the remote village in Baraspamba, Ecuador. His service in Baraspamba has been the highlight of Perry's career. The aftermath statistics revealed that these musical instruments improved the students' developmental and educational skills. This was the core of "All That Culture Music of The America's".

Shawn continues to fulfill his vision through various schools, outreach, and rehab opportunities. Our missions statement is to educate and to put music back into rural and reservation schools.

ALL THAT CULTURE MUSIC of THE AMERICA'S EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

Music Program

We engage middle and high school aged participants in a course to take place during and or after school intensive session focusing on activities that will build relationship, create a cohesive ensemble and prepare the participants for the commitment of performing musically for the community. In keeping with our artistic / musical mission of awaking the expressive voice of young people in Native communities, the course will be designed by Shawn Michael Perry and instructed with current teachers on staff. This program will include Shawn on site one week per semester. Shawn will correspond via satellite/SKYPE to instruct remaining course. The final week will include a school performance and presentation with students alongside Mr. Perry.
